An Apostle is someone called by God and sent by Him to aid in saving souls for Christ. This partaker, having the authority to preach, teach, and be of service to the community.

Apostleship is one of the highest privileges and opportunities presented to man by God. To be a participant, in an assignment to be accomplished, is divine.

The Apostle is responsible for preaching the Word of God. Following the lead of the Holy Spirit, to enable the unbelievers to hear from the Almighty.

The significant part for the Apostle is to deliver the message exactly how God outlines it. The term "practice what you preach" is a tag preachers get when they fail to follow the word itself.

An Apostle will face adversity at times when being of service to other people. Similar to believers, they do not choose their battles but trust God to overcome them.

The Apostle is responsible for teaching new converts, believers, neighbors, strangers, and even enemies. Not just in words, but in living. For a leader of this magnitude, action speaks louder than words.

To service other people, the role of an Apostle to form a connection is to listen. To hear what a person in need is expressing is to allow God a step closer to provide.

Finally, the Apostle is to guard his eyes against worldly things that are contrary to God. To perform these Apostolic duties, holiness before our Creator must be the priority.
