A backslider is someone that disconnect themselves from God to serve whatever has stolen their heart. This backslider is a spoiled soul to Satan and knows the person could turn back to God.

The problem with a person living this way is whatever carnal attraction that pulled them away from God could wear off at some point. This backslider is a person that knows the Word of God, so it would not be that easy for them to reconcile. One of the first signs of a person's backsliding is they stop praying to God. Secondly, their love for God is no longer there. The backslider is in love with something else or someone else. Whatever it is, the enemy will invite more demons into this vessel. The backslider will become more difficult to convince because of their previous background before in God. Therefore, only God working through the obedient believer can bring the backslider out of that state of mind.

God, forgive me for allowing something else to get in the way of believing in you. Thank you, God
