Why go to church? People go to church to learn and know about Jesus Christ. Christ, who is the head of the people, is love. The human beings that attend church regularly have a relationship with Him. This marriage between Christ and these people is through the reception of salvation. Similar to earthly unions, the believers become a part of the family of God, where Jesus Christ is the link between them. Therefore, we must love other people like fellow Christians, neighbors, and even our enemies. If Christ has a love for them, then we must have the same standards. The transition from salvation to this level of love is what separates Christians from the children of God. The fruitful and the unfruitful, the clean and the dirty, the bright light from the dim ones. The children of God who obtain these good attributes will be ready to serve the harvest (other human beings yet to know God) with love. Those who are opposite will still try to find the way with their methods.

Prayer: Loving God, help me to love others according to you Holy Word. Thank you God. Amen.
