Knowledge is the second attribute after wisdom. Wisdom is receiving the Word of God, while knowledge is the awareness of what we received.

Ever hear about a person and not see them? Then out for a walk running errands, a person shouts unexpectedly, "look, there's the president?" Then we turn around to check. We either read about or see them on social media. Knowledge is to know.

Knowledge of something or someone helps us to be careful with our approach. To prepare to expect the unexpected. To be able to know will give us the advantage to say no to a situation and avoid second-guessing.

Knowledge gives opportunity and confidence to believe in the choices we make without being hesitant. We know that wisdom is first because without it, how could we recognize any information? God desires us to listen to the wise that would aid us through life. The pioneers that have the awareness of whatever we endeavor to achieve will make things clear to us in the long run.

Knowledge is an asset and potentially can be profitable. The only step between us and scaling the financial ladder is application. Obtaining the components and necessary tools to let the knowledge take its course and work for us.

Knowledge, on the other hand, may be dangerous. Similar to the days of Adam and Eve with the tree of knowledge of good and evil, we have to be careful of the knowledge we receive and use it for good and not evil.

God expects us, as believers, to embrace the knowledge that He provided to help others around us that may be struggling, direct those who may not be aware, and share our resources with people.

Knowledge from God helps pave our way, remember to help those around us today.
