

However, it is widely known as the Sabbath Day, although some may differ the day. The importance for those who do serve God is to take the time and give Him thanks. To honor His Son, Jesus Christ, the Savior of all who accept Him, and for what He has done by giving God's people the opportunity to serve Him in spirit and truth through His Holy Book, the Word of God.

Inner Growth - Savior Sunday

Sunday is a day of the week after Saturday. However, for most countries, it is the seventh day of the work week, but not for all. Saturday on the calendar falls on the first slot, with Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday following. For non-believers, Sunday is typically not a work week for most workers, which gives a sense of relief that the work week is complete and people get to unwind from their responsibilities and obligations that come with being an employee. For the non-religious, they do whatever their hearts desire for the short term until another work week arrives. Sunday has the sun in it, which means relax, sit back, and plan whatever is necessary to enjoy it. This day means a vacation away from the norm, doing whatever pleasurable that comes to mind. For some, Saturday is planning, Sunday is doing, or even better, Friday might be the planning, and utilizing both Saturday and Sunday to carry out the plan. However, they do not have God on their agenda. Still, they might use His name in vain on Sunday when they remember. Still, for believers and followers of God, should we not honor God more on this day than just what a relief Sunday is here? Arguably one of the busiest days of the weekend, churchgoers and believers attend church for many different reasons.
