

Tongues Tuesday

Tuesday is a day of the week between Monday and Wednesday. However, for most countries, it is the second day of the work week, but not for all. Tuesday on the calendar falls on the third slot, with Sunday and Monday before it. For non-believers, it is part of the work week and is more settling than the day before. Recently, a survey result finds Tuesday as the most productive day of the week.

On the other hand, believers who serve Jesus Christ may have a different pattern from unbelievers, while most start the day with prayer, worship, singing praises, or a mixture of all three to God before they start their new day ahead. Still, Tuesday is a day people know as another work day after Monday. However, the course of this day may be slightly different than the day before because getting that first work day in at the beginning of the work week makes it a bit better or worse for the Tuesday. During the day, some have their usual routine of either music blasting as they travel while working, some listening to their favorite radio station, or some reading or conversing in between with other co-workers to get them through the day. Still, it could be quite draining at the end.

Tuesday may not be a day to look forward to being where it is on the calendar.

However, there are other alternatives to making it better. The people who do not serve God continue to find new ways of enjoying their Tuesdays: why not us as believers? Why not make Tuesday a day for speaking the heavenly language? Yes, we pray, sing, and worship the King of kings and Lord of lords to start our day, but why not attempt to maintain this throughout the day and continue after the work day?

Tongues Tuesday is a suggestive thought where the main focus is to speak in tongues, a gift of God, through the Baptism of the Holy Spirit. For the believers who speak in tongues, the heavenly language is to communicate with the Lord. Christians who do not have then must ask the Lord for the gift of speaking in tongues. "And they were all filled with the Holy Ghost, and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance."
